MINOR COUNTIES CHAMPIONSHIP.

Berkshire's Successes.

CORNWALL v. BERKS
This match was placed at Port Eliot on July 29th and 30th, and Berkshire won by an innings and 105 runs, Herkshire went in first and ran up the fine total of Mal. W. Y. Woodburn was very unlucky in not reaching his century, as he was in the nineties when he was caught by Gillespy, Chapman, Morres and Remnant also made good scores of 43, 47, and 42 respective v.
During the game hu abnormal number of extras were registered, 30 being given away by Cornwall in one innings alone. Cornwall replied with the small total of $7, their downfall being chiefly due to H. F Merres, who took 6 wickets for 30.
On the follow on Cornwall did a little better,
Tresawna (35) and Irwin (35) making useful scores, but the home team were all out for 129. Hawkeworth took 3 for 10. Scores :

WILTSHIRE'S CREAT VICTORY AT

The Minor Counties' match between Berks and Wilts, played at the Kensington Road Ground on Monday and Tuesday, will live for ever in the memories of those who had the good fortune to be present. Though Berkshire partisans were undoubtedly keenly disappointed they will not grudge Wilts the credit of a giorious victory. Briefly, the story of the game is as I will here set forth. Wiltshire batted first and after a good start collapsed rather weakly and returned a total of 176. Against this Berkshire hit up runs confidently and when, early on the second day, their innings closed for 311, the result seemed a foregone conclusion. Such anticipations were further justified when Wilts started their second venture, for no less than six wickets fell for a total of 106, and with only four more to fall Wilts were still requiring 29 runs to save the innings defeat. Some of the spectators did not trouble to return after lunch, others only did so out of ennui, and even Berkshire's bowlers carried on their work with a kind of "Sorry, but can't help it "condescension. The fall of the sixth wicket had brought together a rather crude looking pair of foatsmen. There was a youth named Dunn, lardly out of his teens, who had caused some exament by his stone-walling methods in the first innings, and he was partnered by a left-hander. Easor, and left-handers are always an awkward proposition. Dunn, slight and diminutive, played a defensive game with the orthodox straight bat, while Ensor was a little less cautious, occasionally hitting a good ball for four. Presently Duim began to score as well and the bored spectators sat up and took notice. Runs soon came freely and a hearty cheer greeted the hoisting of 200. It had turned half-past three when the great partnership ended, Ensor being caught by Ryland at extra cover. The two batsmen had added 126 in an hour and thirty-five minutes. Worse was to come, however. After the Wilts wicket-keeper had been dismissed for 15 and Dunn had been caught in the slips from the board Bennett's leg stump

BERKSHIRE'S RECORD SCORE AGAINST DEVON.

BERKSHIRE'S RECORD SCORE AGAINST DEVON.

Berkshire put up a brilliant batting performance in the Minor Counties game with Devon on Wednesday and Thursday, and the total of 537 is a record for the County side and a record for the ground. We should think it is also close to the record for a two days' match. Devon made by no means a poor show, yet tiey were heaten by an innings and cleven runs. Batting first, they scored the useful total of 279, thanks chiefly to a great stand by Light and Sturt. Five wickets had fallen for 101 when these two became associated and they raised the score to 232 before they were parted. The Berks innings included two centuries, both failtless displays with the exception of a difficult charce in the slips given by Remnant. Exactly a hundred was on the board before 'Croom gave the hower an easy return. At the close of play on Wednesday the score had been taken to 237 without further loss and 236 was up before Remuant and Nicholl were parted. The former hit 19 fours and Nicholl one sky and 17 fours. Three wickets fell quickly at 382, but Stevens kept things going merrily and hit one five and 11 fours in his clever innings. The visitors employed no less than eight bowlers. Devon were set to get 258 to save the mings defeat and Carroll and Hoare gave them a good start by sending up 90 for the lirst wicket. Their captain, Mr. Carroll, made yet another stand with the assistance of Aspinall, but after that something of a collapse set in and only Jennings gave any trouble. The catches which dismissed Light and Carroll were brilliant ones on the extreme boundary, Stevens kept wicket magnificently for Berks.

Berks in Batting Form.

Berks in Batting Form.

Berkshire again showed what a splenful batting sole they process by seering 12n in their first insuling signised Corrowall on Monday. It was not their highest total for the season, for against Devon they severed Mr. The increased interest in the doings of the club was again shown by the large rowed on the ground.

On Berkshire going in to bat A. J. W. Croome was sent back with no runs on the board, playing on his weeker, but a sujech stand was made by R. J. F. Reiment and k. I. Nichell. Nichell was dropped when 25 by Beatley, but otherwise the day lay was faultless, runs accumulating at a furthing in not at a rapid, pace. The partnership was not discolved till the rectors stored at 175, when Reimant was taken at the weeket off Whiting, he having made an irrepresentable 94, which included II fours, it was very unlinely that he just failed to reach his century. Which interest was aroused in the appearance of the Cambridge Blue, A. P. F. Chapman, who scored 157 for Berkshire at Evier, and after he had had a let off before scoring be opened cut in his best style by hitting 5 fours. Before, however, he could get inoperful set he gain a counts to Whiting off Veall at record slip, and was finely caught; he played stylesh crucket and the flower of 125, and the reinford II feers. The second as though after all the Berkshire total would be a moderate one for such a plump sielet, but 6. G. M. Ernnett, who gave one of two chances early on, was now batting finely, and his partnershy with P. F. Benmant was very fruitful. G. G. M. BERKSHIRE'S SUCCESS OVER HERTS.

No play was possible in the match between Burkshire and Hertfordshire at the Kensington Read ground on Wednesday, but play was started on Thursday. Berkshire won the toss and were responsible for the useful total of 170. Six wickets fell for 82 (Croome scoring a useful 35 and Gregson-Ellis 27), but the tail wagged to advantage and the last four wickets added 88, Ryland, Stevens and Weedburn all doing well. Rurton bowled finely, taking 6 for 60 (11 maidens out of 29.2 overs), and Margh had 2 for 33. Hertfordshire began badly by losang 4 wickets for 41, R. B. Cowley being rinely taken by P. F. Bernant at cover. The fifth wicket added 33, but thanks to some fine bowling by Hawksworth and Woodburn four more wickets fell for 32, and the whole side were out for 120. Hawksworth again did fine service with 5 fer 51 (9 mai lons out of 22 4 overs), and Woodburn had 3 for 39 and Chapman 1 for 25. Berkshire thus won on the first inneys 50 runs.

Herts were very smart in the field.

A CHALLENGE TO STAFFORDSHIRE.

Major Turner, the hon, secretary of the Borkshire C.C., informed our representative that Berkshire had wired to Staffordshire asking them to play a challenge rated for the championship of the Minor Counties at Reading on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday next week.

Major Turner said there was some doubtes to whether the game with Hertfordshire would be regarded as a one-day match or a two-day match, as not a ball was bowled on Wednesday. It it was a one-day match Berkshire would get the whole five points.

Counting it as a two-day match Berkshire had won 31 cut of 40 points this season and Staffordshire were in the same position.

Major Turner informed us that should Staffordshire accept the challenge the same team would play for Berkshire as opposed Hertfordshire.

The game with Hertfordshire at Watford was won by Berkshire on the first innings.

BERKS v. STAFFORD.

Cricket Championship Result.

Rain on Wednesday caused the abandon-Kain on Wednesday caused the abandon-ment of the deciding match between Stafford-shire and Berkshire in connection with the Minor Counties championship, and accord-ing to rule Staffordshire, the challenged side, retain the title.
The position of affairs at the time match was brought to a close, was that Siaffordshire, with 113 runs scored for hye wickets in their second innings, were only

Se runs ahead.

The position is certainly very extracrdinary, for Berkshire finished level on points with Staffordshire. How the latter can therefore be regarded as champions when the deciding match was unfinished. Herishire leading on the first innings, passes comprehension.

The match to decide the Minor Counties Championship opened between Berkshire and Staffordshire at Porthill Park on Monday. In spite of the heavy rains the pitch was firm enough to permit of rolling before the atart, and Staffordshire winning the toss, they decided to go in while there was a probability of praceting. Still it calls a probability of run-getting. Still, it only needed a spell of sunshine to put the bowler in a good humour.

a probability of run-gorting. Sun, n only needed a spell of sunshine to put the bowler in a good humour.

E. W. Page and A. A. Bickerton were the first pair in to the bowling of A. P. F. Chapman and W. Y. Woodburn, the Borkshire captain. Runs came fairly freely at the start, and 30 was put up at the end of 25 minutes' play. Page narrowly escaped being stumped with the score at 14, and again at 17 he gave a difficult catch to Major Nicholl, which he was unable to hold, although he mode a praiseworthy effort. Page batted confidently and reached the boundary four times, being applauded for one lofty drive which put the ball out of the ground altogether. When the pair had reached 40 a change in the bowling was tried, Captain H. M. Hinde and Hawkworth taking on. The change steadied the run-getting, but 50 was reached in about three-quarters of an hour. The partnership came to an end at 58, Page being smartly caught by wicketkeeper S. H. Stevens. He tried to cut one of Captain Hinde's deliveries. C. Ridgway joined Bickerton, and at the fifth ball of Captain Hinde's first over to bim he suffered the fate of Page, Stevens again effecting a clever catch. Ridgway had not scored a run, so that the second Staffordshire wicket was down for 56. Meakin went in next, and signalised his arrival with an early boundary. The total was carried past the 65 figure, and then G. H. Ryland relieved Captain Hinde, Neither batsman could do much with Hawksworth's bowling, and maiden overs were frequent.

Neither batsman could do much with Hawkaworth's bowling, and maiden overs were frequent.

With the assistance of the sun the bowlers appeared to be getting the whip hand. The weather was now genial. At 71 Hickecton gave a chance to Dr. Woodburn. The Staffordshire captain was also experiencing some trouble in placing, and eventually be gave a chance to A. P. F. Chapman from G. H. Ryland's bowling, which the former took. His score was then 13. E. H. Bennett joined A. A. Bickerton, and after scoring two was clean bowled by G. H. Ryland. A. A. Bickerton was now partnered by W. H. Twigg, and shortly after his arrival at the wicket Capt. H. M. Hindo resument bowling in place of G. H. Ryland. Runs still come very sparingly, and five more to the total brought about the fall of the fifth wicket, W. H. Twigg being given out l.b.w. to Hawksworth after scoring three. Lunch time had now arrived, and Staffordshire hed scored 85. The sun had been shining now for some time, and it was obviously a howlers' wicket.

for some time, and it was obviously a bowlers' wicket.

Reauming after lunch, A. A. Bickerton carried his score to 32, when he drew back to a ball by Captain Hinde, and was caught by S. H. Sterons, who thus accounted for his third men. There was one curious incident in his innings, the ball ludging in his right pad, and he, apparently, forgot that a ball in clothing is "dead," for he would not pick it out. Wickels now fell rapidly. Sedgwick was caught by Pr. Weod, burn when he had accored two. J. S. Heath only got one before he was bowled by Captain Hinde, and H. Birch was caught by Major Nicholl without the consolation of even one. There seemed a likelihood of A. Lockett and Morgan lifting up the score. They both brightened matters by hitting out, but this liveliness proved short-lived. Morgan skied a tast ball by Captain Hinde and was caught by R. J. F. Remnant, Staffordshire's innings closed just after three o'clock for a total of 127.

Berkshire went in to but at 3.20, R. J. P. Remmant and Croome being the first pair in, to the bowling of Sedgwick and Morgan. They did not make such a promising start as. Staffordshire, the protessional being given out l.b.w. in attemptic, to play a ball by Sedgwick when the score was only six. Then Major Nicholl was beautifully caught by J. S. Heath from Sedgwick's bowling when only 10 runs had been added. R. J. F. Remannt was now joined by A. P. F. Chapman, the 'Varsity bat, who has been piling up such good scores for Brikshire.

The pair settled down into a most serviceable partnership which Insted well over an hour. The previous two wickets had follen for 16, but before A. P. F. Chapman was clean bowled by Sedgwick the score had been carried to 96—a rather disconcerting outlook for Staffordshire, having regard to their cheap dismissal. The 'Varsity playshad knocked up 46, and in the process hat played some masterly strokes. The fourth wicket fell two runs later, and then there was another useful stand until 121 was teached, when an entirely different complexion was put upon matters by a bowling feat by A. Lockett. He had sent down three balls of an over without having a run scored, and with the last three he successively clean bowled Capt. Gregson-Ellis, P. F. Remnant, and Dr. W. Y. Woodburn. In his next over he also clean bowled G. H. Rylond with the second ball: thus accounting for four wickets with five balls. Hawksworth and S. H. Stevens then put up a fight, but when the former was disnussed the partnership of the last two was speedily dissolved, Berkshire finishing 27 in front on the first innings.

Staffordshire went in to bat a second time, but there was only about seven minutes (e.go. It sufficed, however, to cost them a wicket. J. S. Heath went out with A. A. Bickerton, and, after scoring four, was bowled by G. H. Ryland when the score stood at eight. This concluded the play for the day of the former of the first innings.

Owing to the condition of the wicket, it was found impossible to make a star
