BRIGHT PROSPECT FOR COUNTY CLUB

CHIEF NEED ANOTHER' FAST BOWLER

WILL the coming season see a turn in the tide of fortune for Devon County Cricket Club?

This is a question which all associated This is a question which all associated with the county club are asking, and in reviewing the prospects it is pleasing to record that there do appear to be certain aspects which point to the possibility of greater success than in recent years. This season the club will be under the captaincy of R. G. Seldon (Blundell's School), who succeeds G. K. Simmons. It must, however, be pointed out at once that before Devon can hope for success they must secure the services of another fast bowler. H. C. Lock was called on to do too much last season and, called on to do too much last season and, not getting all the support he might have experienced in the field, lost some of his fire towards the close of the campaign.

WICKET-KEEPER WANTED.

WICKET-KEEPER WANTED.

In addition to another fast bowler, the need of a reliable wicket-keeper, who will be available for the whole of the season, stands out among the requirements of the club. The man who immediately appeals is Lieut-Com. Bartley (Yelverton), who is also a first-class bat, However, he does not appear keen on playing county cricket and there may be some difficulty in getting him to change the decision he has previously made. No one would be more welcome in the Devon XI. Devon XI.

Devon XI.

Then, of course, there is G, Binmore (Torquay), the first choice of the selection committee last year, but who was prevented from taking the position for health reasons. Happily, he is now fit again.

As to the rest of the side, practically all last season's players will be again available, but there are likely to be a number of changes. F. S. Campling (Torquay), H. S. Stoneman (South Devon), and W. T. French (South Devon) may again be called upon, while H. G. Uren (Plymouth), who will be able to assist in the later matches, might well be given a more frequent turn with the ball. iven a more frequent turn with the ball. given a more frequent turn with the ball.

His batting and fielding call for no comment—he is one of the most promising young players the county have found for some seasons

Another player of much promise is A. F. Irish (Sidmouth), of whom a high opinion was formed when he was played at the Oval last season. N. Humphries (Axminster) should also be a first choice with his reputation as an attractive and

G. S. BUTLER AVAILABLE.

G. S. ## DEVON TRIAL AT EXETER

BATSMEN SHOW TO ADVANTAGE

FORM WORTH FURTHER CONSIDERATION

WHILE producing no exceptional discoveries, Devon County cricket trial at Exeter yesterday was sufficient to indicate the strength of the young playing talent. The selectors gave eighteen players their first trial in sides captained by R G. Seldon and G. K. Simmons respectively, and three or four of the newcomers at least showed form worthy of further consideration.

of further consideration.

In reply to a total of 238 for 9 wickets, declared, by Seidon's side, Simmons's XI batted consistently well, to win, with four wickets in hand.

MASTER OF THE BOWLING.

Foremost in Seidon's side was the display of N H. Humphries, the Exeter Rugby player, who scored prolifically for Axminster last year. During an hour's stay he held complete mastery of the bowling, and when he retired at the luncheon interval, with 52 runs to his credit, he nad virtually played himself into the county side this season.

Other bright spots in an orgy of rungetting were the batting of E H Were (Exmouth) and S Kitson, a product of Exeter League cricket, both of whom retures.

Among the bowlers H Keeling (Ply-Mill) satility actives a season with a honours with a tired when they reached their half centuries.

Among the bowlers, H Keeling (Plymouth) easily captured the honours with a devastating spell after lunch. He was nearly always hostile with his in-swingers, and his figures would have been much more convincing but for an erratic length at the close of the innings. T J Oliver (Exeter) kept wicket well and conceded only one bye.

GOOD OPENING PARTNERSHIP

J. E Cottingham and J D King Martin gave Simmonis's team a fine start with an opening partnership for 84 runs, and when Exeter's two most promising batsmen, R V Ladds and R J Pyne, got together the bowlers played second string to some powerful driving and beautifucuts. In less than an hour the pair added 102 runs. Ladds claimed seven boundaries in his bright, stylish disolay, and Pyne hit six 4's Scores:—

FURTHER MATCH PROPOSED

LAST SEASON'S COUNTY TEAM v. "REST"

IT is probable that last season's Devon team will oppose a team chosen from e "Rest of Devon," a "Western Mornthe "Rest of Devon," a "Western Morring News", reporter was told by Mr. R. H. Lock (treasurer of Exeter Cricket Club) after the second Devon County trial at the County Cricket Ground, Exeter, yesterday.

The proposed match will take place at Exeter in the near future and will act as a final.

as a final.

Rain was the outstanding "feature" of yesterday's trial, which resulted in a draw, inclement weather caused a delay of nearly three hours in the start of the game.

Even then a fresh wicket had to be prepared, which at first appeared to be in favour of the bowlers, but the batsmen soon found out that the ball was "coming up" very slowly from the almost "dead surface. A general fault with the bowlers, in fact, was that in attempting to get some "life" into the ball they pitched it too short.

some "life" into the ball they pitched it too short.
Eight of the players took part in last week's trial. Alterations were made to both teams, so as to give the Selection Committee an early opportunity of watching certain players.

Committee an early opportunity of watering certain players.

PROMINENT PLAYERS.

R. G. Seldon's team batted first, and made 130 for 9 wickets. The team was a man short. The most successful batsmen in the Devon captain's side were T. E. Andrews, the Exeter player, and A. F. Irish, the excolt, who played for Devon on one or two occasions last season. Each of these players made over 30 runs, the retiring "limit."

Most prominent in the fielding side were W. Evans (Christchurch). a medium-pace bowler, who took 4 for 42 and F. Wilson, of Exeter Nondescripts, who proved very sound as wicket-keeper. His dismissal of A. H. Hofladay was brilliant.

G. Kelth Simmons's XI, made 121 for 8 wickets. Their best batsmen were H. W. Fenwick and R. Stephenson. both Exeter players. Fenwick was in better form than at last week's trial, and he made 40, declared. Stephenson's wicket still remained intact when he had 21 runs to his credit.

R. G. Seldon's most effective bowler was mained intact when he had accordit.

R. G. Seldon's most effective bowler was B, C. James, who finished with the analysis of 2 wickets for 14 runs.

The fielding of both teams was good: it must, however, he taken into consideration that owing to the "dead" ground the ball did not run very far or fast. Scores:—

UNITED SERVICES SLOW BUT SURE

EXCELLENT bowling by Lieut, Morri-

EXCELLENT bowling by Lieut. Morrison played a big part in the defeat of Plymouth when they met United Services at Mount Wise on Saturday.

Morrison took eight wickets for 48, and completely changed the position of the game after Plymouth had lost three wickets for 50, in reply to the Services' total of 156.

It was a game of varying fortunes. The Services took a long time to get the measure of the Plymouth attack, the slow bowling of Aitken-Davies being particularly puzzling. They took 72 minutes to score 50 before lunch.

FINE INNINGS OF 75.

Gapt. Phayre, however, pulled the game, round, playing a fine innings of 75. Although at first subdued, he later opened his shoulders against Althen-Davice, his innings including seven 4's and a 6.

In spite of losing Mailinson, with only five runs on the board, Plymouth batted with more confidence than their opponents at the start, and scored twice as quickly. The loss of Price, however, seemed to upset the side, and with Morrison bowling fast and securately, the rest of the team were out chaply.

The game was watched by a crowd of between 400 and 500.

RAIN INTERVENES

PLYMOUTH PLAY AT YELVERTON

KEEN FIELDING

Rain spoilt what had every indication of being a keen finish to the match between Yelverton and Plymouth at Yelverton and the result was a draw, with Plymouth holding a slight advantage.

The dead oitch and keen fielding on both sides made scoring very slow. Plymouth took over an hour to put 50 runs c1 the board. Thorne and Pafford batting with caution. After this partnership had been broken no other player reached double figures until Martin came in and had a merry knock, hitting three 4's and a 6 in his innings of 25. Hughes secured 4 wickets for 30 runs and Solomon had 4 for 4!

Cooper and Rowland gave Yelverton a good start, but rain caused two lengthy stops. Midgley for Plymouth took 3 for 11. Scores-

DEVON DISPLAY ENTERPRISE

GOOD REPLY TO SURREY

R. G. SELDON EXCEEDS THE CENTURY

DEVON played such enterprising cricket against Surrey Second eleven at the Ovai yesterday in their Minor Counties match that when stumps were drawn the Western county were only 54 runs in arrear with 6 wickets standing.

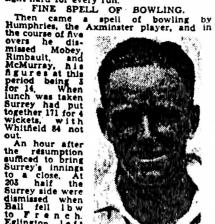

Features of the day's cricket was the spiendid three-figure innings of both Whitfield for Surrey and R. G. Scidon, who played a real captain's part, for who played a real captains part, to Devon.

Whitfield and Bedser (E. A.) gave Surrey a splendid send-off, the first partnership putting on 109 runs in 75 minutes. Bedser (E. A.), one of the twin brothers recently signed on as a professional from Woking, created a favourable impression, and completed a useful 57. Campling, French, and Lock bowled well for Devon, and were aided by the splendid work of Wilson behind the wicket, so that Surrey had to fight hard for every run.

DEVON SAVED BY HUMPHRIES

CORNWALL INDEBTED TO K. HOSKING

A BRIGHT CENTURY by K. Hoskink, for Cornwall, was the feature of yesterday's play in the match between Cornwall and Devon at Camborne.

'In reply to Devon's total of 254, Cornwall were not doing too well until Hosking went to the wicket, but his innings completely altered the complexion of the game, and at the close the Cornishmen were only 29 runs behind/with five wickets in hand.

Hosking hit two 6's, one over the pavilion were only 29 runs behind/with five wickets in hand.

Hosking hit two 6's, one over the pavilion roof and out of the ground, and twenty-one 4's in his innings of 131, and was clean bowled by Lock with the last bail of the day.

Earlier in the day N. H. Humphries, playing in his second match for Devon, saved his team from collapse with a well-played century At one period it looked as if Devon were set for the day, but after Humphries was fourth out at 216 wickets fumbled quickly, and the remaining batsmen could only put on 38.

FREE SCORING.

Humphries's knock was characteristic of this free-scoring player At anything turning away to the left side Humphries hit out, and his masterly turning of the bail was a feature of his innings. He hit sixteen 4's On the easy wicket Devon should have get a much bigger score. There was, however, the early disaster, for with only eight runs on the board Rowlands was run out, having called for an almost impossible run. Seldon and Humphries made the most of any loose balls, and put on 82 for the second wicket. Seldon being more subdued than his partner, but playing excellent stylish cricket frish was the only other player who gave Humphries any measure of support After a shaky stare he settled down to good, steady batting, and runs came at a fast rate. The partnership realized 122, Humphries doing most of the scoring Humphries opened his shoulders on completing his century, but when 130 he was bowled by Kendall, who obtained his first success in his twenty-first over.

The old superstition of changing the bat changing the luck came true in the case of Irish. On completing his 50 he went to the pavilion for a new bat, and in Harry's next giver he was bowled. Then the procession started. Kendall, who had been bowling better than his figures suggested, dismissed Pyne and Clarke with successive balls, and Harry also obtained success with his good-length bowling.

CORNWALL'S INNINGS.

Cornwall began confidently, but at 43 Campling bowled Holman for 28, when the Cornishman seemed well set. Three runs later Rogers was also sent back, but Hosking and Dorning soon got going. Mosking contributing some forceful batting. Scoring freely all round the wicket, Hosking made the bowling seem poor stuff, and had both bowlers and fieldsmen completely puzzled. Boundary after houndary came from his bat, and he completed his century by taking a 6 and a 2 in successive balls off Pyne. Scores:—

POYNDER UNFORTUNATE.

By lunch Cornwall had obtained the wickets of Rowland, Seldon, and Humphries—Devon's three most formidable batsmenfor a paltry 35.

Poynder did his hest to stop the rot in the afternoon, but Kendall had undoubtedly found a spot and was getting considerable fire out of the pitch. Poynder had had luck to see the ball hit his wicket off his pads, and from then onwards wickets tumbled quickly.

The only bright spot was provided by Bloy, of Blundell's School, who made some delightful strokes in the closing overs. Cornwall knocked off the necessary 25 runs without loss. Scores:—

CRICKET IN THE DUCHY

BATTING BETTER AGAINST DEVON

COLTS' MATCHES TO BE RESUMED

CORNWALL'S opening match in the Minor Counties' competition with Devon at Camborne resulted in a decisive win for Cornwall by 10 wickets after an interesting game, in which fortune fluctuated considerably.

When Devon had 216 for 4 wickets in the first innings on Friday the outlook for Cornwall was none too bright. Then for Cornwall was none too bright. Then a quick change came over the game, and the innings closed for 254. In the main this was due to the accurate bowling of Harry, who, over a long spell, kept a perfect length, did not appear to send down a single loose ball, and always had the batsmen playing the ball. His five wickets for 64 runs was a capital effort. Towards the end of the innings Kendall also began to bowl much more effectively.

ENCOURAGING SUCCESS.

ENCOURAGING SUCCESS.

Cornwall finished the day strongly with 225 for 5 wickets. K. Hosking gave a very fine exhibition of batting for his 131, careful defence being mixed with extremely aggressive punishment of any loose balls Dorning and Holman gave Cornwall an excellent start, and the batting generally was a great improvement on last year's showing. On Saturday the total was taken to 310. Casley played well for his 53, and the captain, C. V. Paull, batted very soundly for his 28. It looked as if there would be a full day's play when Devon went in again at about 12.50, hut the batting broke down against a strong attack. Kendall bowled very finely in this innings, getting 6 wickets for 27 runs. Mill bowled well without much success, and then Harry again kept the batsmen guessing.

Cornwall's work in the field in the first innings was not convincing but improved as the match progressed, while Devon's attack did not appear to be quite up to standard. They lacked a bowler with pace. This opening success is a much-needed encouragement to Cornwall. The side begins a heavy tour next Thursday. Devon will be met at Sidmouth on Friday and Saturday, and subsequently games played with Dorset. Oxfordshire, and Surrey II. For this tour twelve players will travel. E. K. Scott, who has played several games for Oxford this season, is included, and T. Maddern (St. Just) and Oilerearnshaw (Lelant) take the places of Griffiths (St. Austell) and Mill (Camborne). The results on this tour will be watched with considerable interest.

The final match in the Vinter Cup competition, will be played on the Camborne ground on August 2 between Penzance and Turo.

COLTS' CRICKET.

COLTS' CRICKET.

It is most welcome news that in all probability the Colts' match with Devon Colts will he resumed this year. The game in view will be played at Exeter on August 24 and 25. In preparation for this match two games will be arranged for the Cornwall Colts, one against Cornish Choughs at St. Austell and the other against a side representing the Cornwall Junior League. It is proposed to play two different elevens in these games, and so give 22 Colts a chance to show their worth. At least six of those still qualified are now playing in the Senior League, and these should ensure that a good, effective side can be brought together.

THE LEAGUE.

THE LEAGUE.

The present position in the County League thows Penzance well ahead in the Western Section and Fowev in the Eastern Section. Helator's deteat of Camborne has made a serious difference to the latter club. Redruth, with a stronger eleven, are now making a much better showing. In the Junior competition there is very keen competition in one section between Barrisper. Mawnan, and Climax Works, and in the other section Lelant have drawn away from their nearest rivals. Townshend and The Lizard, and have an excellent second.

ADVANTAGE GAINED AT SIDMOUTH

HOME COUNTY LOSE WICKET-KEEPER

THE weather was overcast at Sidmouth yesterday when Devon, having won the toss, decided to bat against Cornwall method to bat against Cornwall in a Minor Counties championship match. There was a gasp when Seldon was missed by Addicoat off the first ball, but the mistake was not costly, Kendall, with the third ball of his second over, breaking the wicket of Seldon. The Devon captain, who had never been comfortable, had scored only two runs.

Six runs later Kendall gained a further success, Humphries playing a ball from the Cornishman into the hands of Hosking. Two wickets were thus down for eight runs.

Hatfield and Poynder then associated, and play brightened a little, but not so the weather, and at 12.30 rain stopped play.

A resumption was made at 1.20. The Devon pair found run-getting none too easy. The Cornish fielding was smart, and with the outfield dead, shots that would in ordinary circumstances have reached the boundary were cut off.

Lunch was taken with the score at 46 for two wickets.

HARRY'S FINE SPELL.

Scoring was much brisker after lunch, but Harry commanded respect. In a spell of twelve overs, four of which were maidens, only 12 runs were scored off him, and he took two wickets.

Irish, the young Sidmouth player, sent up the 100 with a cheeky single, but was out soon after, Kendall taking a catch off Harry's bowling.

Campling offered stiff resistance, but with his departure the rest were soon disposed of, the whole side being diamissed for 139 runs.

The sun came out when Cornwall went in to bat, Holman and Rogers faced the bowling of Seldon and Lock.

Devon suffered a blow when a fast ball from Lock rose quickly, and struck Holladay, the Devon wicket-keeper, in the face, and knocked him out, He was carried off the field, and taken to Sidmouth Hospital.

Poynder put on the pads, and Skinner, of Sidmouth, came out to field as substitute. Runs came steadily, although Lock always commanded respect.

Casley batted stylishly for 37, while Scott was most aggressive. He hit Pyne for 6, and also took 14 runs off Humphries in one over, before being 1 bw to Lock.

HOLLADAY'S NOSE HURT.

Harry was missed behind the wicket when he had scored two, otherwise the Cornwall innings would have been concluded. At the close of play Cornwall were 51 runs ahead with one wicket to fail.

It transpired that Holladay has damaged the bridge of his nose. A decision as to his fitness to continue in the game will be made this morning. Scores:—

DEVON LOSE FIRST INNINGS POINTS

CORNWALL take points for a firstinnings lead in their Minor Coun-ties championship match with Devon, which ended in a draw at Sidmouth on which ended in a draw at Sidmouth on Saturday, when rain stopped play. Cornwall were then 65 runs behind with hix wickets in hand Having acored 190 for the loss of nine wickets at the conclusion of Friday's play. Cornwall brought their overnight total to 204 before Harry was caught by Seldon off Lock. His partner Kendall carried his bat for a usefu' 23.

There was little excitement in the opening of Devon's second innings, both Seldon and Haffeld playing extremely cautiously. Then came a change in the Cornish bowling. Scott going on in place of Maddern, whose nine overs had included four maidens, and in the other five overs only eight runs had been made.

The change was for the better as far as Cornwall were concerned, for Scott's fourth ball was missed by Hatfield, and Addicoat, the Cornish wicket-keeper, whipped off the bails before the Devon batsman could regain the crease.

Humphries had batted well for his 61 and was given a hearty ovation as in returned to the pavilion. With only five more runs on the board Irish was clean bowled by Harry.

Poynder and B. H. Lock made a snort stand, but just as he appeared to have got the measure of the bowlers Poynder wis 1.b.w. to Scott. Five minutes later Campling, who had joined Lock, hit out at a loose ball from Harry, but was caught near the boundary by Casley

With Campling's departure the innings was as good as closed, the remaining batsmen being dismissed cheaply Holladay, the Devon wicket-keeper, whose nose was injured in Friday's play, was unable to bat. Cornwall opened their second innings needing 133 to win, but they made a disastrous start, losing Holman with only ten runs on the board. At the same time a thick dirzile came over the plitch and it was fairly evident that there was very little hope of the game being completed. Further head luck awaited Cornwall when they lost Hosking, clean bowled by Irish before he had scored a run. Casley came to the rescue, however, and carried his hat for Mith Cornwall's total at 67 for four wickets rain stopned play and the match was left drawn. Scores:—

THREE CENTURIES RECORDED

INCLEMENT weather on Saturday had a detrimental effect on Westcountry cricket and many matches had to be cancelled or abandoned when at an interesting stage.

Despite the adverse conditions, there were many good performances with the bat and the ball, and no fewer than three centuries were recorded, and many bats-men succeeded in exceeding the halfcentury.

Bowlers were handicapped by a wet ball, and so there were few exceptional feats reported, but there were many good performances of more than average

Plymouth And Paignton Second Teams Meet

Teams Meet

Owing to rain there was a late start in the match between Plymouth II, and Paignton II. at Peverell Park, and it was agreed that each side should bat for an hour and a quarter.

Kendail and Gould paved the way for a good Paignton total, and they were assisted by the fact that there was no change in the attack until more than 60 runs were on the board. Both Ainsworth and Pafford proved expensive. For Plymouth, Bradley played a good innings of 35, and the home team wanted eight runs to win when stumps were drawn. Scores:

DEVON'S VISIT TO OXFORD

GOOD RECOVERY FROM BAD START

BROTHERS POYNDER MASTER ATTACK

BATTING first on a good wicket against Oxfordshire at Oxford yesterday, Devon made a disastrous start, and then proceeded to re-establish themselves, largely through a fine third-wicket partnership of $\circ{1}{2}$$ by Seldon and C. E. H. Poynder.

Oxfordshire opened the attack with their fast bowler, O'Shea, and off his third ball Lock was caught at first slip.

third ball Lock was caught at first slip. and his fifth ball sent Humphries's off stump out of the ground without a run on the board.

Now Seldon and C. Poynder had on their shoulders the responsibility of preventing further successes by the Oxon bowlers. At 19 Halliday made a double change, Pether and Walters coming on for O'Shea and himself.

change, Pether and Walters coming on for O'Shea and himself.

LOST GROUND RECOVERED.

The Devon batsmen, however, knew their task, and 'without taking liberties carried the score steadily abong. The first hour produced 42 runs, Guilfoyle was brought on for Walters, who went to the other, end, tut the Devon pair continued comparatively untroubled.

At 93 O'Shea, who, surprisingly enough, had not bowled agair, since his first successful spell, came buck, and had Seldon taken behind the wicket off his second ball for a thoroughly valuable 43, made in an hour and 40 minutes.

Irish and Poynder simyed together to 129, when Irish was caught at silly mid-on off O'Shea

PROFITABLE PARTNERSHIP.

The two Poynders now became associated, and they took the score to 208. At this point Halliday went on with the new ball, and his second delivery C. E. H. Poynder edged to Barmby in the slips after making 111 and reaching his 100 in 33 hours. His score included nine 4's.

J. Poynder stayed to make a hard-hit 86, with two 6's, a 5, and nine 4's as his chief hits, but nine wickets were down for 301. Pyne and Lock, however, stayed together, and had added 40 before Lock was out I b w to Pether in trying to pull him over the ropes. O'Shea emerged with four wickets for 63 runs, and Pether claimed 4 for 50.

DEVON CAUSE COLLAPSE

INNINGS VICTORY OVER OXFORD

CAMPLING AND LOCK EFFECTIVE

OXFORDSHIRE'S batting collapsed against the combined attack of Campling and Lock at Oxford yesterday, and by just after three o'clock eighteen wickets had fallen for 201 runs in a little over 31 hours and Devon had won by an innings and 77 runs.

The Oxfordshire batsmen found Campling practically unplayable, and the slow bowler emerged with the fine analysis for the match of eleven wickets for 97 runs, while Lock had seven for 76.

Oxfordshire resumed 280 behind with 9 first-innings wickets intact, so that unless their hatting collapsed, as in fact it did, it looked as if there might have been an exciting fight for the first-innings lead. The Devon bowlers held complete mastery, how-DRIVING HOME ADVANTAGE.

DRIVING HOME ADVANTAGE.

The first three-quarters of an hour cost Oxfordshire 3 wickets for the addition of only 34 runs, and when Campling came on at 95 he proceeded to crive home the advantage by claiming the wickets of Money and Inge in the same over, so that Oxfordshire had lost 6 for 103, O'Shea arrived too late to bat, and the remaining 3 wickets only added 25 runs.

Thirty-five minutes remained before lunch, and 8 wickets had gone down in the morning for only 68 runs. Nothing, however, could now halt the successes of the Devon bowlers, and three second-innings wickets had gone at lunch for only 35 runs, two to Lock and another to Campling.

The resumption saw the procession continue. Hamersley was completely decelved by a ball from Campling, Money had his stumps uprooted by Lock, and Inge was well taken in the slips by Seldon.

The only stand of the day followed. Walters and Florey, going for the bowling, put on 68 before Walters was caught in the deep trying to hit Campling over the ropes. At 118 Florey was stumped and the last Oxfordshire resistance had gone, only 17 runs being added before O'Shea was stumped off Campling, and the match was over. Scores:—

COSTLY MISS FOR DEVON

CHANCE SEIZED BY DORSET BATSMEN

CAMPLING CARRIES OFF BOWLING HONOURS

DORSET did well to get 238 runs in their first innings against Devon in the Minor Counties championship at Dorchester yesterday on a wicket that gave a great deal of trouble to the bats-

The pitch was soaked by Thursday's storm, and although feverish attempts were made artificially to dry it with sacking, it was unfit for play at the outset, and the game was not started until after the players had been entertained to lunch by Dorchester's Deputy Mayor, Miss W. Marsden.

The wicket improved, however, with sun on it, and, given fair weather today, Devon, who are 199 behind with 9 wickets to fall, have a good chance of wickets to fall, have a good chance of overhauling Dorset's score.

DORSET BEGEN SLOWLY.

Dorset began slowly, with the hatsmen concentrating on defence, having an anxious time watching deliveries that popped and came through at varied pace. C. P. Brutton, the former Hampshire skipper, was more aggressive than his partner, E. C. J. Honey. Dorset's wicket-keeper, but his innings was shaky, and the opening partnership of 36 was broken in Campling's first over, when Brutton played the ball back into the hands of the spin bowler.

Campling had another success when he captured Honey's wicket in his third over. When Carnegie Brown joined Tindall he went for the bowling and punished J. Poynder with strong driving. Compared with 52 in the first hour, this pair doubled the score and sent up the 100 in another 34 minutes.

UNSUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

UNSUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

with 32 in the nirk nour, this pair doubled the score and sent up the 100 in another 34 minutes.

UNSUCCESSFUL APPEAL.

When Clarke came on he appealed unsuccessfully for a l.b.w. decision against Carnegie Brown, and the next ball went off the bat to the slips. Brown was exceedingly aggressive, but there was always the likelihood of his wicket failing, and he gave another chance when he skied a ball from Clarke. In the same over, however, the partnership was broken at 100, when Tindall pulled Clarke and was caught at mid-on.

Without a run added, Carnegie Brown was well caught in the outfield by Campling off Lock, who bowled very steadily for long spelis. Devon's flelding was keen, but Tovey might have been run out in the next over. Taylor, however, was surprised by a ball from Lock that lifted, and before he could get his bat out of the way, he snicked it into the wicket-keeper's hands, with the score at 116 for 5 wickets.

SHOCK FOR DORSET.

This was a shock for Dorset after things had been going well for them. Tovey and Fawcus played cautious cricket in an effort to stem the tide, but after tea, Campling, whose leg breaks puzzled the hatsmen again broke a promising partnership when he pitched a ball outside Tovey's leg stump, completely beating the batsman and taking the wicket.

Devon's bowlers, helped by the wicket, were on top, and although Fawcus kept the ball on the carpet, he forged ahead steadily with Busk as partner, but they did not reckon on smart work in the field when, in trying to sneak a second run, Busk was run out at 165.

F. King was caught and bowled by Campling with the next ball, and the close of the Dorset innings was anticipated, but Devon had a costly miss when Badham should have been caught in the slips and behind the stumps when he was 3. He profited by his good fortune to Join in a grand partnership with Fawcus, and the sent up the 200 in 31 hours. Frequent bowling changes by Seldon were unavaling. A double change was made when Humphries and J. Poynder were brought to the profited b

DEVON AT THE WICKETS.

When Devon batted, with 40 minutes to go before the close, the sun shone brilliantly and the wicket appeared less troublesome. At 2, however, A. H. Cockroft was clean bowled by a superb ball from Badham. Seldon and Humphries then dealt patiently with the spin bowling, and they were undefeated at the close, with 39 runs on the board. Scores:—

UNEVEN DISPLAY BY DEVON

SECOND INNINGS RECOVERY

MATCH WITH DORSET SAVED

AFTER a first innings collapse which left them 127 runs behind Dorset and caused a follow-on, Devon made a splendid recovery in their second innings at Dorchester on Saturday, and managed to stave off defeat when a win for the to stave off defeat when a win for the home side was imminent.

After Devon had been dismissed in an hour and a quarter before lunch for 111 in reply to Dorset's 238, R. G. Seldon set a fine example in his second innings of 73 and paved the way for his side to hit up the commendable score of 247 for seven wickets when stumps were drawn.

Devon were also well served in their second venture by A. F. Irish, who played an invaluable innings of 54, and J. Poynder, who, after scoring 38 in the disastrous first innings, completed his fifty when he went to the wicket a second time.

SELDON MASTERS ATTACK, When Devon followed on the wicket rolled to the wicket a second time.

SELDON MASTERS ATTACK.

When Devon followed on the wicket rolled out easier, and very soon Seldon got on top of the attack, without attempting to force the pace. W. R. Clarke left him with 32 on the board, but the captain and Humphries went along steadily until the latter was out 1 b w. When C. E. H. Poynder failed and three wickets were down for 69 matters were not too bright for Devon, who still needed 58 to catch Dorset Irish, however, dug himself in admirably.

Bowling changes were unavailing until the partnership had realized 61, when Seldon was out to a brilliant catch by Tovey at fine leg off Baddam. Batting for 2 hours 35 minutes, Seldon scored 73 out of 180, and although he had only five boundaries, his innings was a sound one.

AGGRESSIVE EFFORT.

J. Poynder joined Irish, and the fact that Poynder had 50 out of the partnership of 69 indicates his aggressiveness. He hit nine 4's. Devon were then 12 ahead and the match was safe.

Irish completed his 50 and added four more before he was caught behind the wicket off Taylor, with less than half an hour to go. When Campling was caught behind the wicket, stumps were drawn with Devon 120 runs ahead Scores:—

BOWLERS' PITCH AT NEWTON ABBOT

SOUTH DEVON DEFEATED

TOURIST CAPTURES EIGHT WICKETS CHEAPLY

On a wicket ideally suited for spin bowling, South Devon fared badly at Newton Abbot yesterday against Courtaulds, and the touring side won by 42 runs.

A Fleiden returned the fine bowling analysis of 8 wickets for 26, for Courtailds, and but for steady batting by J. Melville, who had 57 and B. Marston with 23, the visitors would also have been in a sorry plight, the remaining nine batsmen scoring only 29 runs between them. Except for H. Horrell, with 16, none of the South Devon batsmen came off, and 72 was all the side could total. Source:—

DEVON BATTING DISAPPOINTS

WICKETS LOST BY BAD STROKE PLAY

FAULTLESS CENTURY FOR OXFORDSHIRE

WHEN rain brought a premature close to cricket at the County Ground, Exeter, last night, Devon were 164 runs behind Oxfordshire, with 6 wickets still to fall.

Unless something sensational happens today the home county are not likely to repeat their recent innings victory. In fact, on a wicket that may easily prove difficult this morning. Devon will do well to gain first innings points. Their batting late in the afternoon was disappointing. Three wickets were thrown away through bad stroke play, and consequently the day ended with Devon struggling to regain an advantage they had held at the luncheon interval.

SPARKLING DISPLAY.
Oxford's innings was completely

Oxford's innings was completely dominated by a faultless century from A. P. D. Montgomery. Defying the attack for 3½ hours, he gave a sparkling display all round the wicket, to claim eleven 4's and contribute more than half of his side's total.

Until lunch time Devon were on top, and with five wickets down for 126 runs, the Oxford captain must have questioned his decision to bat on a pitch not fully recovered from a heavy dew But the home county failed to drive home their advantage, and with the fielding becoming slack, after a morning of promising work, the limitations of the Devon bowlers were laid open.

LAST-WICKET STAND.

In a last-wicket stand, Montgomery and J. P. O'Shea, who presented a correct bat to almost every ball, added 43 invaluable runs, before Montgomery ended his glorious interests.

J. P. O'Shea, who presented a Correct oat to almost every ball, added 43 invaluable runs, before Montgomery ended his glorious innings.

The rest of the Oxfordshire batting was of uneven quality, and only W. W. Inge, who gathered 27 lively runs, and J. G. Halliday offered any real resistance. Up to the luncheon Interval Devon's fielding was brilliant and R. G. Seldon, A. F. Irish, and B. H. Lock were frequently applauded.

Devon fared badly at the start of their innings. Just when the opening pair were settling down to some stylish batting. Seldon made a rash stroke at a bad ball and snicked a catch to the wicket-keeper.

N. H. Humphries began aggressively, but with the score at 30 he had the mistortune to pull a ball on to his wicket.

DEVON MAKE HEADWAY

It was not until C. E. H. Poynder and A. F.' Irish came together that the home county made much headway. Both batted attractively for a time, Irish in particular sending the ball through the covers with delightful ease. He had some troublesome moments, however, when facing the Oxford professional, Walters, and after surviving one appeal for 1 b w. he was out the next ball.

Four wickets were then down for 82 runs, and the Oxford fast bowlers were getting the most out of the wicket.

Before rain intervened the Povnder brothers provided a few lively moments with quick running between the wicket, but neither faced the fast medium deliveries of O'Shea with complete confidence.

RAIN STOPS PLAY AT EXETER

OXFORD TAKE FIRST INNINGS POINTS

RAIN caused the abandonment of the Minor Counties championship match between Devon and Oxford at Exeter yesterday, when there appeared a possibility of an exciting finish.

To the Oxford first innings total of 280 Devon had replied with 137, and were only 94 runs ahead after the loss of seven second innings wickets Bad light then stopped play for about 15 minutes, and almost immediately after the resumption a thunder-storm made further play impossible. DEVON COLLAPSE.

DEVON COLLAPSE.

Devon gave an inglorious batting display when they resumed their first innings. Except for the Poynder brothers no effective resistance was offered to the attack, and when they were parted Devon collapsed, five wickets failing for 38 runs. When J. S. Poynder left at 129, he had helped his brother to add 47 runs. Seldon and Rowland raised Devon hopes by gaining an early mastery of the attack when they went in again, the home county having been compelled to follow on. Despite an alert and well-packed field, runs came freely from good length bowling, and in 40 minutes the first 50 went up on the board. Seldon looked well set for a big innings. Ten runs later, however, Walters caught him in two minds, and his wicket was shattered. Two balls later Rowland was dismissed and with C. Poynder and Irish both failing. Devon were once more struggling against defeat. Four wickets had failen for only 13 runs.

Bruggling against defeat Four wickets had fallen for only 13 runs

BOWLING MASTERED

Not until the arrival of J. Poynder was there any evidence that the bowling really could be hit. Aggressive from the start, he was rarely in difficulties, and towards the end of his innings he found the houndary with clean drives and vigorous pulls. With Humphries, he helped to add 73 runs—the biggest partnership of the match—hefore heing smartly stumped by Inge. His 47 included five 4's.

Humphries all this time had been batting with confidence, picking out the loose balls for severe treatment. He reached his 50 after an hour and 25 minutes, and continued master of the bowling until bad light stopped play.

There was thunder and lightning while the players were in the pavilion, and when play was resumed only two balls had been sent down before rain fell and stumps were drawn. Scores:—

Plymouth opened with a splendid partnership between Mallinson and Staines which was not terminated until Diaper effected a brilliant catch in the longfield. After 34 hours' batting Plymouth declared at 273 for 7 wickets.

Plymouth were encouraged when the visitors' first wicket fell at 13, but before another batsman was disposed of the score had crept to 178, thanks largely to Brown, who at the conclusion of the game was still unbeaten, his score of 114 including a 6 and nineteen 4's all out for 340.

The home bowling, except for consistent spells by Lock (H. C.), seldom made an impression on some sound batting, and missed catches did not make the work of the bowlers any easier on a wicket full of runs.

Page paid dearly for their fielding

Devon paid dearly for their fielding lapses, H. W. F. Fox was missed in the slips before he had scored, and after surviving a troublesome "maiden" from Lock he became aggressive, to obtain a half-century in just over an hour. Six 4's were included in his bright display of histing. hitting.

LUCKY ESCAPES.

LUCKY ESCAPES.

Both M. L. Taylor and P. H. P. Lovell had lucky escapes early in their innings, and they accepted their good fortune to stay for a sixth-wicket partnership of 84 runs.

Lock was the "victim" on each occasion. The Devon professional was in brilliant form throughout the day, and but for his analysis of "wickets for 114 runs in 38 overs Devon would have been in a sorry plight.

Lock gave his side a sensational start by getting a wicket with his first ball, M. B. Elderton chopping one on the off to his stump. But after that Dorset were on ton until teatime, and runs came freely on a perfect wicket. Fox and F. C. Jarchow retrieved the visitors' early disaster with a timely second-wicket stand, yielding 83 runs, and by that time the Devon attack had lost its early sting.

LUSTY DRIVING.

The appearance of G. Carnegle-Brown soon heralded a faster rate of scoring, and with Jarchow he withstood the bowling for I hour 35 minutes. Not until he was 68 did he give the semblance of a chance. Campling was unable to accept a hard return, and Carnegle-Brown resumed to flounce the atlack with lusty driving and vigorous hooks to the leg boundary. He brought the total to the 200 mark with a lovely on drive for 6 off J.S. Poynder, His partnership with Jarchow added 133 rus, and his contribution of 85 included a 6 and eight 45.

Jarchow was content to wait for the right ball to hit, and his patient, determined display lasted 34 hours. At times he scored delightfully all round the wicket, and his resolute 84 runs did much to dishearten the Devon attack.

DEVON'S REPLY.

Faced with a formidable task, the home county made a dismal start. Only five runs were on the board when J. G. E. Howland gave an easy catch in the gulley. N. H. Humphries, too, had only a short stay, and two wickets were down for 41 runs.

R. G. Seldon and C. E. H. Poynder, however, remained together to raise the hundred, and towards the end both were driving in confident style. Poynder, in particular, gained the measure of a steady stack, and soon overhauled his partner. His cover driving off the fast bowler, Taylor, showed how well he was timing the ball. So far the partnership has yielded 80 runs. Scores:—

DEVON'S FINE BATTING

BIGGEST SCORE FOR YEARS

COLOURFUL CENTURY BY C. E. H. POYNDER

ON a batsmen's wicket at Exeter yesterday Devon took heavy toll of a disappointing Dorset attack and poor fielding to register their highest score in recent years.

At one stage on Monday their task of getting 346 runs for the first innings points seemed hopeless, but yesterday's batting reached brilliant heights, and Devon finished 97 runs ahead, leaving them a remote chance of victory.

Devon finished 97 runs ahead, leaving them a remote chance of victory.

But Dorset made no mistake in their second venture, and although the home captain tried seven bowlers the match was drawn.

Resuming with Devon's overnight total 121 for 2 wickets, R. G. Seldon and C. E. H. Poynder batted with supreme confidence for an hour and a half. Fifty runs came in the first 30 minutes, and later the rate of scoring was even faster when the Devon captain joined Poynder in a delightful display of driving and hooking. Hitherto he had gathered his runs with leisurely glides and stylish late cuts, and had been content to wait for the right ball to hit.

SELDON UNLUCKY.

Poynder was in a punishing mood throughout, and he reached his century in exactly two hours

When Seldon left at 95 the pair had added 191 runs for the third wicket—Devon's best stand for years.

Formal inspections were carried out by the umpires and captains during the morning, but "no play" was the obvious decision.

DEVON CRICKET SEASON

COUNTY RECORD DISAPPOINTING

EARLY PROMISE NOT SUSTAINED

UNLIKE Cornwall (whose record has already been reviewed in "The Western Morning News"), Devon County Cricket Club have not had a good season, and apart from an occasional bright spot in batting and bowling they have disappointed their supporters, who had hoped for a revival this year.

Of the seven games played in the Minor Counties championship Devon have won one and lost one and the remaining matches have been drawn, Devon taking points on two occasions and their opponents gaining the advantage three times. Their final game, against Surrey II, at Plymouth, was abandoned owing to rain without a ball being bowled.

At the beginning of the season, with some very promising talent at their disposal, it looked as if the tide of fortune would turn for them, and in their opening match against Surrey II, at the Oval they gained a splendid first innings lead. R. G. Seldon scoring an excellent century.

At Camborne Cornwall's strong attack proved much too good for them. They gave a poor display and lost by ten wickets. Hopes of revenge at Sidmouth were dashed when Cornwall managed to pass their first innings total, and rain stopped play when the match was in an interesting position. Cornwall being 65 runs behind with six wickets to fall Devon s solitary victory was over Oxfordshire on tour, when the home county were forced.

Cornwall being 65 runs behind with six wickets to fall

SOLITARY VICTORY.

Devon's solitary victory was over Oxfordshire on tour, when the home county were forced to follow on and collapsed against the combined attack of Lock and Campling.

Devon winning by an innings and 77 runs.

Against Dorset, at Dorchester, only accond innings recovery saved Devon from defeat, the first innings points going to Dorset.

Rain curtailed the match with Oxfordshire at Exeter, where first innings points went to the visitors, but on the same ground against Dorset the Devon baismen found their form, and, taking toil of a disappointing Dorset attack, registered their biggest total in recent years—442. C. E. H. Poynder contributed a colourful century. Seldon missed his hundred by only five, and other good knocks were made by J. S. Poynder and A. F. Irish

The excellence of Seldon's captaincy is without question. He handled a rather unconvincing attack skilfully and got the best out of material at his disposal.

A wider representation in the team might, however lead to better results in the future, and the selectors cannot afford to overlook the claims of some consistent players in the western part of the county.

CLUB CRICKET.

Club cricket in Devon has been as as fourishing as ever and the higgest disappointment has been the weather.

Pilymouth's matches have been marked with some very close finishes, and sporting declarations and dramatic bids for victory have been some of the reasons why Peverell Park has been such a popular Saturday afternoon venue. Plymouth have carried out a policy of giving every promising cricketer on their books trials with the first eleven, and there have been some excellent achievements with both bat and ball. At Mount Wise the absence of many troops resulted in a rather sketchy fixture list, and it was a great pity that the return game between the Army and Navy could not be played for this reason.

Torquay, Palgnton, Sidmouth, North and South Devon have head perhaps the heavlest fixture lists, and two-da

FINE PERFORMANCE BY DEVON COLTS

COUNTY CLUB AND GROUND DEFEATED

Devon Colts put up a fine performance at Exeter yesterday to defeat Devon Club and Ground by 108 runs. Batting first on an easy wicket, they set their opponents a big task by compiling 214 runs.

A. F. Irish, who has won his county can his season, batted fluently for his half-century, hitting five 4's. P. C. S. Chilton also gained the measure of the attack, and was within 4 runs of his 50, when he was clean bowled by Roberts. B. G. Brockichurst attacked the bowling vigorously, and his breezy 'nnings of 39 included one 6 and five 4's.

Devon Club and Ground never looked like staving off defeat. Two wickets fell to R. E. Oxenham with only 4 runs on the board, and J. G. Hicks consolidated the Colis' advantage with 5 wickets for 23 runs in 9 overs. Scores:—
